

AURORA INTERNSHIP PROGRAM - REFERENCE REQUEST

The Program introduces students and graduates to career opportunities in the Indigenous sector and beyond. Indigenous and non-Indigenous Interns provide assistance to under-resourced Host organisations involved in native title, land rights, justice, policy and community development, health, social welfare and research, Australia wide, primarily with an Indigenous focus.

Internships take place for a 5 to 6-week period over the winter and summer university breaks, with some flexibility for recent graduates.

We are interested in any insights you can provide in relation to the applicant:

- academic success and overall intellectual capacity
- interest in the area of Indigenous affairs and/or social justice generally
- reliability, empathy and ability to work with people in what can be a difficult environment
- maturity, common sense and initiative
- integrity, humility and sense of obligation
- communication skills.

It would be helpful if you would kindly specify your relationship to the applicant as well as your position in your organisation (where relevant).

Kind regards,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Kim Barlin".

Kim Barlin
Internships Manager
The Aurora Education Foundation